INSPECTION OF HOME CANNING IS ARRANGED

Inspection of home preserves will be made by local officials of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, and on the order of the Dominion Sugar Administrator, several penalties will be applied to those who are found to have bought excessive sugar which they will not actually use in October, it was announced Monday.

Extension of regulations for home canning is creating a shortage of sugar in western Canada, and if validity vouchers were extended further the entire rationing plan would be upset.

According to the board the main reason for local shortage is the inability of refiners and beet sugar factories to obtain adequate labor for loading cars, and with excessive traffic on railroads, extra time is taken between loading and delivery.

The government is endeavoring to make cane sugar available from Vancouver and the east to supplement supplies until the new beet crop starts. First deliveries from the beet crop cannot be expected until the latter part of next month, however.

Refineries and factories have been requested to deliver their sugar equitably, and if they consider that any buyer is receiving excessive amounts they are ordered to cut down that quantity.

The Dominion Government feels that the present rationing is unwarranted and that many persons are signing vouchers for canning sugar, but are not using it for that purpose therefore, home supplies will be inspected, starting immediately.

NEW AIR FORCE TRADE, OPEN

A new Air Force trade has been opened to men and women with entertainment experience and with musical talent who are qualified and suitable for employment with concert parties for the entertainment of Service personnel.

On Sunday next, October 4th, the Annual Harvest Festival Service of the Knox Presbyterian Church will be held at the usual hour of 7:30 in the evening.

The Church will be suitably decorated for the occasion, the Pastor will deliver an appropriate address, and the singing of Harvest hymns will round out the service.

Members and friends are cordially requested to donate or loan vegetables, fruits, flowers, grain plants etc., toward the display of harvest blessings, and are asked to kindly have same delivered to the Church not later than three o'clock on Saturday, October 3rd, so that the decorations may be completed at that time.

A hearty invitation is extended to all to join in this special service.

FIREMEN TO STAGE ANNUAL DANCE

A big affair in Bassano on the night of October 23rd, will be the Firemen's 19th Annual Dance, to be held in the Masonic Hall. Posters are now in the process of printing and tickets will be on sale soon.

The entire proceeds from this dance and other projects undertaken by the Bassano Volunteer Fire Brigade, go to sending much needed smokes to the boys from this district who are now serving in His Majesty's Forces overseas.

We feel that you will agree that this organization is doing a worthy job and hope that everyone in the present will buy tickets whether you attend the dance or not.

Majorville Man Hurt In Thresher

John J. Bartsch, Jr., Majorville, was admitted to Bassano Hospital on Thursday evening, suffering from a lacerated arm, broken jaw bone and cuts and bruises around the face and neck, which he received when he was caught in the separator while adjusting the feeder at his farm prior to starting harvesting operations.

Several stitches were taken in his arm, which was split almost from the shoulder to the wrist and three stitches were taken in his jaw.

While he will be in hospital for some time, his condition is reported as good.

E.I.D. NOTES

Farmers who desire to seek outside employment when the harvest season is over are requested to notify E. I. D. head office.

There is a heavy demand for labor and it is believed that during the winter months farmers and farm laborers can be utilized in many of the projects that are necessary under the National War Programme.

The Selective Service Officer in this territory has refrained from issuing permits to farmers for outside employment until harvesting operations are over.

The time is now approaching when it may be advisable to issue permits to farmers. There is at present a demand for men or unskilled labor and skilled carpenters and loggers and other projects.

It would help in handling the whole business in an orderly manner if those who expect to be in the field during the winter months and wish to take outside employment would notify the head office as soon as possible.

TRUCKS PASS THROUGH BASSANO

A cavalcade of trucks stopped in Bassano over night on Sunday and left Monday morning for the north where they will work on the Alaska Highway. Fifteen trucks and one passenger car were with the cavalcade of trucks and 32 men, all in the employ of George Schmidt of Fort William, Ontario.

The men, who stayed overnight at the Imperial Hotel, said that Bassano had given them the best accommodation of anywhere along the line since they left Fort William. Good meals, clean, comfortable beds and "there was nothing about the service" they said. "The boys had their breakfast and were on the road by seven o'clock Monday morning."

The contractor, George Schmidt, is to lay an 18-inch layer of gravel for a distance of 58 miles on the Alaska Highway.

CAID OF THANKS

I wish to thank Scott, the hospital staff and my many friends who were so kind to me during my stay in the Bassano Hospital.

R. A. Wagar

Miss Margaret Douglas, R.N. of the local hospital staff is on vacation during the month of October. She is visiting her home at Brooks. The Church of England services will be held on Sunday, Holy Communion and Sermon at 11 a.m.

Announce Program For Meat And Dairy Production

In a statement issued on September 17th, Hon. James G. Gardiner, Dominion Minister of Agriculture outlined the basis of a long term program for the production of meat and dairy products to meet the wartime demands of the United Nations. The statement follows:

"The Dominion Department of Agriculture has for two years through wheat acreage reduction, Prairie Farm Assistance, Prairie Farm Income, assistance on freight east from Fort William and west into British Columbia, and assistance on fertilizer supplied in eastern Canada, been attempting to get feed grain and fodder production up to a level where a long time program of meat and dairy production could be safely embarked upon."

"During that period of two years we have encouraged farmers to produce in as great quantities as possible those commodities which Britain requires, namely, cheese and bacon. It has required the use of all resources of food and a control of the consumption of these two products in Canada to make possible the shipment of the agreed upon quantities to Britain. Last year in order to secure the quantities required we found it necessary to prevent the shipment of feeds out of Canada."

Plenty Of Feed Grain

"The creating of artificial means of shortage of supply in cheese and pork has resulted in a run on other food products, particularly beef, until there has developed a temporary and artificial shortage in beef in certain urban centres."

"The particularly favorable weather assisted by the above mentioned policies has produced a record supply of feed grain, fodder and pasture this year. If farmers conserve the fodder and feed grain grown this year it is possible to enter into a two year program of production of meat which in from six to twelve months' time, depending upon the product concerned, will result in being able to supply our own people with reasonable supplies of dairy products and meats of all kinds and at the same time supply Britain with the expected quantities of cheese and bacon and the United States with supplies of beef cattle."

New Bacon Agreement

The Dominion Department of Agriculture intends to make the enormous feed grain crop the basis for such a program. The first step in that direction will be a new agreement with Britain on bacon which will be for larger amounts at more favorable prices than for 1941-42. We would urge farmers to breed more sows from now on to ensure early success for this hog production program.

"The second step will be one to place pork as soon as possible back in full volume on the Canadian market without interfering with the British supplies, thus releasing beef for the American market which in turn will release beef from the American market for Britain."

"The third will be a program which will encourage the feeding of beef cattle until they are at least three years old, and also an increase in numbers of cattle turned into beef."

Swert Invited

"It should be remembered that while there are great economic advantages in maintaining a direct connection between this country and Britain in hog markets, the economic advantages in relation to cattle are in maintaining our connections with the United States. Any policy devised must both in our own interests and that of the war effort be so arranged as to keep our meat supplies in Britain and so far as beef is concerned in the United States as well as Canada."

"With the enormous supplies of other food which have it is not nearly so important to keep a price of any particular kind of meat which will help our allies on our own plate at present as it is to ship it to where it will do the most good. "The program, which is being prepared, we hope for and know

ROSEMARY

(By Our Correspondent)

Friends of Mrs. Roy Eastman were sorry to hear that she had the misfortune to fall and break her ankle, but is reported as improving nicely.

A business meeting of the Rosemary Cheese Factory and attended by the Kraft Company of Calgary was held on Monday evening.

Mrs. Fred Violette and father, Mr. Violette of the Peace River Block and former Rosemary residents were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Eastman recently.

Fair weather again favors the farmer. But for how long? Threshing is going slowly.

Mr. White and sons sold thirty head of cattle to a farm near Brooks and expects to feed them for later market.

80 Women Recruits Needed In Force

The Calgary district is being asked to provide over 80 Women's Division R.C.A.F. recruits during the next two months, according to officials at the Calgary No. 2 Recruiting Centre. This group of recruits will include all manner of trades-women, such as Meteorologists, Observers, Clerk Stenographers, Standard General Duties, airwomen, Transport Drivers, Hospital Assistants, Medical Clerks, Cooks, Messengers, Equipment Assistants, and girls to train as stenographers at the new War Emergency Training Plan School opening at the Western Canada High School in Calgary October 15th.

Section Officer Roda Kair in charge of the Women's Division enlistments, shares her commanding Officer's optimism on filling the new quotas, although admitting that at the moment the potentials on hand will not nearly meet requirements. Lieutenant J. E. Pugh M. C. Commanding Officer at No. 2 Recruiting Centre points out, "The presence of so many Airwomen in Calgary with their smart, keen appearance and ladylike manner, can help but be an inspiration to the young women of Calgary to get into the war and play a man's part."

Every airwoman enlisted releases an airman for more active fighting duties. Most stations have their quotas of airwomen now, and the remainder will be staffed in the very near future.

The opening of the new War Emergency Training Plan School at the Western Canada High School in Calgary to provide trained clerks and stenographers will prove an exceptionally popular move, since girls will be able to acquire excellent business college training and at the same time obtain full air force pay and allowances of $60 per month plus $100 on day subsistence allowance while attending school. This means that a girl can learn a trade and at the same time benefit to the extent of $1100 a year is over. There are only three such schools in operation in Canada all operated by the R.C.A.F. and Calgary is fortunate in being one of the centres chosen for the airwomen establishment.

Inquiries can be made either personally or by mail at the Calgary Recruiting Centre located on the corner of 12th Avenue and 1st Street East.

We will get the support of all householders, organizations, farmers and the press."

How Canadians Waste Power

So that our war production may not suffer, householders are asked to conserve their electricity. The Department of Munitions and Supply order applies to Ontario and Quebec where many war plants are situated, and working 24 hours a day, Canadians war years have wasted power and two of the most common methods of waste are illustrated above. (1) The refrigerator door is left open while the housewife takes out the foodstuffs one item at a time, and walks away. Power is also wasted when you keep the refrigerator colder than necessary. Operate it only at the required temperature for the proper preservation of foods. (2) A frequent power thief is the electric toaster operating in competition with the daily newspaper. Toasters should be in use only when toast is required. Don't leave your toaster on all during breakfast when not toasting. Watch your toast so it doesn't burn. Burned toast only means that another piece has to be made and more electricity used. Here the wastage is double—both bread and power are used unnecessarily.

THE BOARD OF TRADE

On several occasions in the past few months, the executive of the Bassano Board of Trade has called meetings, only to find that not more than eight or ten of the sixty some odd paid up members are interested enough in the development of the town and district to spend an hour twice a month to come out and discuss that development with their fellow citizens.

Some members attend regularly, some whenever they can and there are the odd few that just haven't the time. But there are a good many who pay their dollar at the first of the year and feel that they have made their contribution to this worthy cause for the year.

A good many active members of the Board in previous years are now gone, mostly in some branch of the Armed Forces. Two active members, Charlie Hanna and Eddie Marquardt, left this month. It is apparent that something will have to be done to make up for this loss if the Board of Trade is to carry on.

The Board of Trade in Bassano has done a lot of good work in the past, both for the town and the outlying district, but unless it receives a good many reinforcements, and soon, it is going to have to close up.

As has been suggested in some quarters, the Board of Trade members are not "laid up" and they have done everything in their power to increase the membership and to bring out inactive members.

If more of the men in town, and in the district, both young and old, were actively engaged in Board of Trade work, there would be much more progress made in developing this area and a great deal less criticism of projects undertaken by the Board that the majority of people know nothing about.

The next meeting of the Board will be held in the Royal Cafe on Wednesday, at one p.m., October 28th. Those of you who read this will not be able to say you didn't know about it.

SALLY EXPLAINS

(Wetaskin Times)

Beloved friend of the soldier of the first great war and untiring social worker for the past sixty years, the Salvation Army is the victim of a misunderstanding which must be explained to the people of Canada. "Sally," as the Army was affectionately called by the fighting men of 1914-18, is in need of funds to carry on her valued social work on the home front and is making a Canada-wide appeal with the full approval of the government of Ottawa.

During the recent Red Cross drive the point stressed most was that it would be the only drive for funds during 1942 since the Dominion Government was financing the war work of all other organizations such as the Y.M.C.A., Canadian Legion, Knights of Columbus and the Salvation Army. While the statement was made in all sincerity at that time, it was not realized that it failed to take into account the valuable work that is being done by The Salvationists among our civilian population.

When that fact was pointed out to government officials they quickly recognized their error and grant of permission for a nation-wide appeal, but the damage had already been done and the Salvation Army is faced with the task of correcting the misunderstanding in the minds of most Canadians.

The amount asked is, of course, much smaller in proportion to the sum required by the Red Cross but the need is great and the record of the Salvation Army in all branches of social service shows them deserving of the fullest support.

Sell Canada To Canadians

"Our primary job as a National War Finance Committee, and you as men and women, who are continually in touch with the citizens of your communities, is to sell Canada to Canadians," Dr. M. M. MacDermid of the committee's publicity section said at the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association at the closing convention session, in Saskatoon, when he addressed the members to help bring about a change of heart in the people.

THE TASK

"Our task is to sell Canada to the Canadians, not so that people who withdraw a few dollars from their banks and buy a Victory Bond or more War Savings stamps, that's peanuts. We have to get Canadians to say: 'Here, my country is all that I've got. I like it and I tell me how best to save it from the threat that all our forefathers left us will be lost, the threat that darkens the whole civilization in which we have been reared and bred,'" Doctor MacDermid declared.

NEED YOUR MILLIONS

In a rapid five-minute appeal, he asked the country editors to help overcome the apathy which lay like a wet blanket on the nation's war effort. His audience, he knew, could have no illusions about the situation in which Canada was today.

"We don't look like victors, we don't act like victors, and don't deserve to be victors unless we undergo a complete change of attitude," he said.

Approximately four billion dollars would be needed to finance Canada's war effort this year. Two billion would come from taxation, and the other two billion had to be sought voluntarily. The need would embrace people of every income level, including those with the most humble wages, he said.

When almost one billion dollars was raised in the second Victory Loan campaign, it had been regarded as a big achievement. But it was no longer thought of as big achievement now, with two billion more to raise. It was a tremendous sum for a nation such as Canada with ten or eleven million population, already in some ways heavily burdened financially. "But," he said, "no war has yet been fought in ease, comfort and luxury."

"There has been no war yet, where under threat of invasion and extinction the people have been enabled to live in ease, comfort and luxury," he said.

"We have to be realistic. We must do more than take off our coats. We must take off our shirts, we must strip to the waist as the Chinese and the Russians have done."

He talked of the spirit of the Empire Builders, men such as Frohisher and not in terms of comfort but in terms of blood, steel and food. Unless Canada rallied her manly strength and womanly fortitude, she would lose the war and deserve to lose it.

"How anyone can go through this beautiful land from east to west and not be thrilled by a desire to give it all is difficult for me to comprehend," he said.

There was a responsibility not only to Canada, but to all civilization to see that the Chinese might one day again live in Peace, that the brave Russians might return to their homes and till their fields. There was a tremendous responsibility to the people of Britain who had held their island when it seemed only God was with them. They had stood like a wall behind which Canada might prepare.

"Even then we failed to take advantage of it. We have a big burden on our consciences," he said.

He said he agreed with G. H. Lash, Director of Public Information, on the unworthiness of Canadian civilians to use the holy word "sacrifice."

"There is nothing I can do as a civilian worthy of the word," he said.

"When your boy is driven out of the skies in a burning plane, when your boy falls into the rough waters of the English channel, or crashes in the Libyan desert, far from water—let's call that sacrifice. But not when sugar or tea are rationed, when we have to do without trouser cuffs, when we can't hold conventions any longer, when we can't buy as good clothes or live in as good houses as we used to—let's not call that sacrifice," the speaker pleaded.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Editor,
Bassano Recorder,
Bassano, Alberta.

Sir:

I cannot imagine anything more harmful to the cause of agriculture in Canada than what has been announced over the radio and published in the press that we shall have 20 years supply of wheat on hand after this harvest.

It presumes we are merely growing wheat for Canadian consumption, which is entirely wrong. We are also producing for Britain and we need a quota of 280 million bushels to supply her needs as well and if losses at sea are very severe we may have to ship a lot more than that.

Any way the present crop has not yet been harvested and stored in a satisfactory keeping condition and a lot may happen before it is, if it ever left the farmers' hands. We are also producing for Britain and we need a quota of 280 million bushels to supply her needs as well and if losses at sea are very severe we may have to ship a lot more than that.

Added to all this a farmer can only sell a few bushels quota which will not begin to cover his harvest expenses and as an example of the unappreciative attitude of the Dominion Government a letter has been sent to those who are indebted to the Farm Loan Board advising them that in case of the "consolidation" of being able to retain the first five bushel quota, the farmer is expected to deliver 50% of all succeeding quotas to the bank until his obligations are met. Ye Gods. If such conditions as this were imposed on any other industry in Canada our war effort would stop. A complete shut down. If the farmers were to run their farms in the same spirit as the administration shows to them it would not be long before there was an actual shortage of cattle, hogs and dairy produce and as soon as the present wheat surplus was exhausted there would be a shortage of that too.

Another thing, there is no evidence yet of any serious attempt being made to utilize our large stock of surplus wheat for our making cloth and rubber. Mr. Howe has expressed the opinion that Canada may appear to be the superior of raw natural rubber. It has been shown that synthetic rubber is superior in some respects to the raw variety. Surely in the time of National stress our daily press should only be used for urging with all their might that all possible measures should be taken that will not only aid our war effort but at the same time save from utter ruin the one industry which is able by reason of its very efficiency to show a surplus in these stressful times, namely agriculture.

The Alberta Farmers' Union has already submitted briefs showing how the debt situation, the marketing situation and the provision for after war production can be met but nothing has yet been done about it. Surely the farmers are not going to be forced into the position of being utterly unable to continue production on existing terms before the Government wakes up to the fact that Canada's greatest contribution to this war is being made by agriculture.

And on top of all this Mr. Gardiner advises that out of this present crop, and succeeding crops, if it is the farmers should pay his debts and SAYS: "About the only thing the farmer will be able to save out of this crop will be his life."

Yours truly,
H. B. Nichols,
Secretary, Alberta Farmers' Union.

HAY!

The old timer from the foot-hills had come to town to meet an old friend from Ontario who had come out for a visit. When they had driven out into the hay country the customer was amazed at the number of hay stacks.

"What do you do with all this hay?" he asked.

"Oh, we feed some of it right here, and we dispose of the rest."

"But how do you dispose of it? Do you bale it and ship it?"

"No," the old timer said, "that would be a pretty expensive proposition. No, we dispose of it in folks in town and farmers round about who don't grow much hay. Some of them feed cattle through the winter."

"And what is it worth? Do you get a fair price for it, and do they pay cash?"

"Oh, sometimes we get a fair price. Cash? No, we don't get cash for it; we sell it on credit."

The Ontario man could hardly believe it. "Great Scott," he said, "if we ran our business that way in Ontario we'd all be broke. Don't you lose an awful lot of money?"

The old timer scratched his head. "Now, we don't lose any money—but we do lose a hell of a lot of hay."

A new type of minesweeper, faster and equipped with latest weapons, is the Bangor. Manned by the courageous fighting men of the Royal Canadian Navy, ships of the Bangor class are carrying a heavy share of the battle of the United Nations against the enemy at sea. They have been particularly effective in coastal patrol and protective operations in the St. Lawrence.

Repairing Farm Machinery

As a result of the increasing difficulty in obtaining new equipment and replacement parts, it is more important than ever to keep farm machinery in good state of repair. The machines in use at present may have to be used much longer than originally intended. This means that they will have to be given more care when in operation, as well as having worn, inefficient parts replaced before they cause damage to other partworking near them, says W. T. Burns, Dominion Experimental Station, Melfort, Sask.

Though seldom done, the best time to overhaul farm machines is at the end of the season's work. All the troubles which occurred in operation during the summer are fresh in mind and can be corrected. By the following spring most of these may have been forgotten, and it will take more time to do the job right. Work which cannot be done on the farm should be taken to the repair shop in the fall, where it can be done during a slack period. This will obviate delay in the spring, and there is the possibility of getting better work. If parts which must be replaced are ordered at this time, they will probably be obtained before they are needed for use.

In overhauling machinery, all bearings, axles, and similar parts subject to wear should be taken apart and examined carefully. Any parts which are not likely to wear well for another full season should be replaced. The other parts should be thoroughly cleaned. Particular notice should be paid to the lubricating facilities to see that they are in good order. Parts which run in the ground such as the cultivator shovels and discs should also be examined. Those that are cracked or badly worn should be replaced, while others may require sharpening to insure the best results the following season.

While at the end of the season repairing machinery may not appear to be particularly attractive work, it will help avoid delays in the field, now that new parts are not as easy to obtain.

PRODUCTION FOR PEACE

The common man has come to believe that the great miracles of production, brought about by the needs of war, can and should be utilized after the war is won to improve the lot of the people of all the world. Surely if the credit of the whole nation can be made available for the production of armaments, when peace comes actual needs can be met under the same terms, that is to say without the necessity of profits and regardless of prices and competition. It is not going to be easy to convince the public that scarcity and unemployment are essential parts of national life.

—The Budget.

YOU SLEPT WELL THAT NIGHT, DIDN'T YOU?

BUT GEORGE WAS AT DIEPPE!

NICE fellow, George—one of the lads from the office. Remember, you had him out for dinner one night. He made a great fuss over your kids—and your wife was very pleased. And then, all of a sudden, he slipped away and joined up. Left his good job, his girl and his future. And he was at Dieppe, slogging up the beach into a murderous rain of steel—fighting for you and your wife and those kids of yours he played with. And that same night you slept well, didn't you . . . in a soft bed. You had an egg for breakfast too. But George didn't. And you're still got a good job and you wear good clothes.

And being conscientious, you worry about these things a bit. But you just haven't been able to push yourself into doing much more than pay your taxes. Well, those taxes aren't enough. Think of what George gave up, and then sit down with your wife and ask yourselves, "What else can we do?" Sure, you've given up a few little luxuries. But there are lots of things yet that you can cut down on. Do it gladly. Because you'll really get a kick out of investing the money you save in Victory Bonds, and in knowing you're not letting George do it all.

Just keep thinking about George and what he gave up. And remember, those Victory Bonds you buy aren't giving—they're lending your country money to help protect you. That money will come back to you with interest.

A Week With The Canadian Army Overseas

This is the second of series written specially for Canadian weekly newspapers by C. V. Charters, Brampton, in collaboration with Walter Legge, Granby.

After thinking back over the past week and recounting the territory covered, the places visited and the experiences that have been ours this brief review article might well have been titled, "A Week In The Canadian Army".

It was indeed a very strenuous week, and the remarkable point is that two fifty-year old recruits like our representatives have survived the heavy strain and have come through smiling to tell you about it.

It was the thrill of a lifetime to cross the Atlantic in 94 hours, but almost equally thrilling and certainly most inspiring has been the week spent in visiting many of the Canadian Army Units. It has been our privilege to witness the most realistic Army manoeuvres and schemes which it is possible to "lay-on" when not confronted by the actual enemy.

During the week we travelled close to one thousand miles by chartered bus, by Jeep and Peep motor vehicles, in Bren gun carriers, in tanks and on "hanksy ponies". We have sat in conference with General McNaughton for over an hour and a half and have learned by his friendly attitude and his cool calculating manner, and brutally frank answers to all our questions, why he is loved by all the men serving under him, and admired by his colleagues in high military circles of all the United Nations. We have chatted informally with other high Army officers, with Junior officers and with the men in the ranks and are impressed with the fine spirit everywhere manifested. We have had conversations with participants in the Dieppe attack, some who came back unscathed and others who are now in hospital having their wounds dressed.

To talk with these lads is a grand sensation. They are surprisingly cheerful and bright, no complaining, and show an eagerness to tackle the job again that is most encouraging. In a later article our visit with these heroes of Dieppe will be given in greater detail. It is an inspiring story.

We have seen bridges erected by a corps of Canadian Engineers in less time than it takes a county or town council at home to decide on such an expensive construction.

We attended an assault course and witnessed a realistic Commando attack put on by the Army in co-operation with the Navy—some of the personnel and equipment used having seen action in the Dieppe raid.

We saw the latest and largest Army tanks in action and marvelled at their accomplishments. We rode in these tanks, drove them, fired their guns and gave the commands going into attack. We witnessed the Artillery and Infantry in action and marvelled at the accuracy and precision with which they carried out their assigned tasks. We watched the wounded being taken from tanks, placed on stretchers in the field and taken back of the lines for necessary treatment. We saw the Ordnance Corps in every phase, from the large workshops at the base to the smaller ones further down the line. They are evidence of Canadian engineering and mechanical skill. We gazed at doctors, dentists and padre drilling and going through physical training to harden them up for their duties. We witnessed realistic bayonet fighting, motor cycle corps being trained as dispatch riders and Provost.

We heard wireless instructors explaining to classes the intricacies of their war job so important to Army communications.

After this first week with the Army we are forced to say that the intensive training being carried on here was indeed a revelation to us all. We feel sure that the average person has little conception of the war entailed in preparing an army for battle.

Our next week will be spent with the Air Force. Then we will have some time with the Navy and the Forestry Corps. Following that, opportunity is to be given for us to visit any other points of special interest.

of Canada, and that his interests would be fully protected if it were found that the invention stood up to necessary tests.

The Alberta Motor Association is interested in measures that will give greater mileage to cars and officials will watch any action concerning the Sokolsky invention that will be of concern to and benefit motorists.

The inventor says the most saving is on cars that travel more than 40 miles an hour. (Federal War-time regulations bar car owners from exceeding 40 miles per hour). Using his invention, the car engine will take less gasoline when operated between 40 and 70 miles per hour, says Sokolsky.

The inventor says that simple mechanism is used for his carburetor. No modifying or casting is necessary and it is a simple matter to start the motor. He says the invention gives the engine a better performance and more "pop."

PLENTY OF CHEESE AVAILABLE INSTEAD OF MEAT

Canada has practically completed her shipments of 18,000,000 pounds of cheese to Great Britain, and there is now plenty of cheese available for Canadians. This would be good news at any time, but is especially welcome now, when a temporary meat shortage exists. Cheese, being a concentrated protein food, is ideal for lunch box sandwiches.

Spanish Sauschiches
2 tablespoons chopped onions
1 tablespoon butter
1 cup thick tomato pulp
1 egg, well beaten
1 cup grated cheese
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of paprika
Saute the onion in butter 5 minutes; add tomato pulp, cheese, salt and paprika and cook 5 minutes longer or until cheese is melted. Stir small amount into the egg; return to the hot mixture; stir and cook 2 minutes longer. May be served hot on toasted bread or stored for future use.

Teakettle Care Important
Careful 'teakettle' attention is sometimes lacking in the kitchen. For instance, water should never be allowed to stand in a teakettle when it is again in use. If water is left inside, lime deposits form and heating time is increased. Any lime deposits formed this way may be loosened by heating 'tea' (strong solution and removed by scrubbing with a fine scouring powder. From time to time the inside of the kettle should be given a good cleaning.

YOU CAN'T MECHANIZE A COW

Even under the stress of war, the mechanization of farming can only go so far. But many a farmer has found that he can increase production by adding to his milking herd, using more fertilizer or better seed in his fields. Should cash be needed for such productive purposes, the logical course is to talk your plans over with your local banker.

Inexpensive Table Finish
To give a softwood table top a quick and inexpensive finish, begin with a thoroughly cleaned table, scrape a little paraffin wax over the surface and iron it with a warm iron. Repeat three or four times. This makes a grease resistant surface.
